56. "The future of our village depends on the actions we take today."

I live in Rampur. It is a small but beautiful village situated [located] in Bhavnagar district. Rampur is a village surrounded by natural beauty. There are 39 big and small farms in the village. At present, there are many facilities in the village such as : mineral water supply, a health care centre, underground drainage system, a bank with ATM and toilet in each home. People are happy and satisfied. But I think some facilities are still missing. There should be a primary school, a garden, a biogas plant, and a bus station in the village.

We know that we cannot get all these facilities in just one year. So this year, we are focusing only on two facilities : Primary school and biogas plant. The Gram Panchayat has passed our proposal to have a primary school in the village and the construction of the building has already been started. The villagers are happy now as their children wouldn't have to go too far for education.

For the biogas plant, I have motivated the village people for 'PPP model'. PPP means People's Participation Programme. Now they are ready to contribute for the plant. The biogas plant will make our village cleaner and we will also get free gas for cooking. Thus, by the end of this year our village will have two new facilities. We will continue this 'Progress Project' to make our village better.

"Together, we can transform our village into a model and modern village."

OR "A library is a modern place of pilgrimage."

Indeed, it is true. Library is a place where we can read our favourite books without any disturbance. It is a very quiet and peaceful place. So, it is also the best place to study for students. A library is a temple of information, knowledge, wisdom, research and reference. I have a membership of S. J. Shah Public Library which is near my school. I regularly visit the library with my friends. When my friends are busy, I go alone. Last week I visited the library as I wanted to read new issues of my favourite magazines and borrow a new book. The building of library is big and well maintained. At the ground floor, there is a huge counter where we can find the librarian Mrs. Neha Patel and her assistant. She is always busy in her work. We can ask her any information regarding the library or books. I greeted her and returned the book I had borrowed last month. Then I went to first floor. Here you can find all the major newspapers of Gujarat. I read 'Times of India' and then went to the second floor. It is my favourite place. Here you can find all famous magazines. I read my favourite magazines : Champak, Chandamama, Chitralekha and Abhiyan. I did not know how two hours passed by. Then I went to the third floor and found a nice book to borrow. Then I went to the ground floor and gave the book to Mrs. Patel. She made an entry in her computer and gave me the book. I happily returned home with the book.

OR A sanctuary is the place where birds and animals can live peacefully without any fear.

Last Sunday, we visited Nal Sarovar which is a beautiful bird sanctuary near Sanand. We went there in car in the morning. We reached there at 9 o'clock. We were amazed / stunned by the beauty of the place. The lake was huge. There were thousands of birds all around. We could hear the sweet sound of different birds. Most of them were migratory birds. They come here from cold countries like Europe, Siberia and Russia. We saw many birds like : cranes, ducks, geese, rosy pastors, flamingos, warblers, fly catchers, etc. First, we enjoyed boating. It was a thrilling experience to watch the birds from so close. We took photographs of many birds. Our guide gave us interesting information about the birds. He explained us the importance of birds in our eco system. In the afternoon, we had our lunch. It was a unique experience to have lunch near the lake in natural surrounding. Then after taking a little rest, we went to explore the forest. We saw many wild animals such as : rabbits, wild asses and beautiful blackbucks there. We also saw sughri and their beautiful nests. We returned home late in the evening.
