They do not formalize their business agreement in writing, instead rely on their strong personal trust and mutual understanding. They verbally agree to share profits and losses equally. The coffee shop thrives in the first six months, generating a substantial profit. However, disagreements soon arise: Ravi feels he should receive a larger share of the profits to compensate for his active day-to-day shop management. At the same time, Deepa argues that their initial agreement to share profits equally should stand.	5

In light of the above scenario, answer the following questions:

- I. Identify the type of legal entity formed by Ravi and Deepa.
- II. State the salient features of this type of entity.
- III. Discuss the potential issues arising from their lack of a formal written agreement under Indian partnership law. What could have been done differently to prevent these disputes, and how should they proceed to resolve their current disagreement?

Ans 23	(I) Judicial decisions and the teachings of publicists are sometimes referred to as 'secondary sources or evidence of international law. The court may have jurisdiction to decide cases in which the parties agree to appear before the court, on their own behest, and agree to be bound by the decision of the ICJ. Article 59 of the Statute of the ICJ states that decisions of the ICJ have no binding force except on the parties to the dispute, therefore, past decisions of the ICJ are not binding. However, ICJ does refer to its past opinions when deciding new cases. The ICJ tends to examine its previous decisions, determine which cases should not be applied and rarely departs from the relevant case law. Also, Article 38 of the Statute of the International Court of Justice (ICJ) mentions Judicial decisions as a 'subsidiary means for the determination of rules of law.' Or	2

	(II) Customary international law is comprised of two elements: (a) consistent and general international practice by states - it is the widespread repetition of similar international acts over time by states (State practice) and (b) a subjective acceptance of the practice as law by the international community - the requirement that the acts must occur out of a sense of obligation (opinion juris) International customary law is probably the most disputed source of international law. For example, it is not clear when a particular State practice becomes a legally binding State practice. It is also unclear how one can identify a rule of international custom, or how one can prove its existence.
Ans 24	(I) The issue of allowing advertising and solicitation by lawyers requires balancing the interest of the public which includes getting information on legal rights and services through advertisements and enhancement of access to justice and the legal profession on one hand and the possible misuse of advertising techniques by lawyers which may lead to a loss of credibility of the profession as a whole. Or (II) Judge Advocate General is the legal and judicial chief of the army and advises the Chief of the Army Staff on legal matters. a) The JAG's Department is also responsible for emerging fields of military law such as those related to cyber laws, space laws, terrorism and human rights violations. b) It deals with military related disciplinary cases and litigation and assists in providing legal assistance to the army in human rights matters and the rule of law among other things. c) The service rendered in the JAG's Department are considered to be judicial service as per the regulations for the Indian Army. d) (Any two)	2 1+0.5 +0.5
Ans 25	These days, the number of litigations is increasing day by day, which is against the smooth administration of justice. So far, emphasis was given only on post-litigation assistance or help. Now, it is being realised that pre-litigation legal services are more useful than post-litigation legal services. The pre-litigation legal services include; Legal education, Legal advice, Legal awareness, and Pre-litigation settlement. Post Litigation services include all those services that are required to be rendered by an Advocate to his client. These services should be resorted only when pre-litigation services fail to give any result.	2

Ans 26	I. An agreement is the result of a proposal or an offer by one party and its acceptance by the other. II. Competent parties: the parties to the agreement must be competent to enter into a contract. III. Lawful consideration and lawful object: There must be lawful object and lawful consideration in respect of the agreement. IV. Ans 28	Fundamental Rights are justiciable rights. They are enforceable, as every individual has the right to seek help from courts if they are violated. Encroachment or violation of Fundamental Rights in our day-to-day life is a matter of great concern. This is why our Constitution does not permit the legislature and the executive to curb these rights. It provides legal remedies for the protection of our Fundamental Rights. When any of our rights are violated, we can seek justice through courts. We can directly approach the Supreme Court that can issue directions, orders or writs for the enforcement of Fundamental Rights.	2

Ans 29	(I) Amicus Curiae literally translated from Latin is "friend of the court". If a petition is received from the jail or in any other criminal matter if the accused is unrepresented then an Advocate is appointed as amicus curiae by the Court to defend and argue the case of the accused.	1+ 1+1

	In civil matters also the Court can appoint an Advocate as amicus curiae if it thinks it necessary in case of an unrepresented party; the Court can also appoint amicus curiae in any matter of general public importance or in which the interest of the public at large is involved. Or (II) a) The judge-population ratio in India is among the lowest in the world. It is also necessary to increase the number of judges in the pool to enable the judiciary to deal with the enormous pendency of cases. b) Moreover, legislations provide for retired High Court and Supreme Court judges to man tribunals till the age of 70 as chairman and 65 as members. There is no reason why these judges should be retired so early. c) One aspect which has not been factored in is that as the Indian economy grows, the ratio of litigation to population will increase exponentially. Advanced economies such as Australia, Canada, France, the U.S., the U.K., and Japan have much higher litigation-to- population ratios. d) Several senior lawyers with requisite expertise and experience decline to accept judge-ship due to the lower retirement age of 62, especially in the High Courts. By an enhanced age, this problem could be rectified as advocates would have greater incentive to forgo their individual legal practice and function in the role of judges. e) Further, the relatively early retirement age in India is often linked to the declining quality of judicial service and the inability of a judge to properly effectuate the stipulated judicial workload.	1+1+1

Ans 34	Human rights are basic rights that we have because we exist as human beings. These are not granted by any state. Human rights belong to all human beings irrespective of their nationality, race, caste, creed, gender, etc. All individuals enjoy the same human rights, without any discrimination. Human rights are safeguards that a human being seeks to live with dignity and equality. Therefore, human rights are universal and inalienable rights. The principle of universality of human rights means that we are all equally entitled to our human rights. Human rights are inalienable; therefore, these should not be taken away, except in specific situations and according to due process. For instance, the right to liberty may be restricted if a person is found guilty of a crime by a court of law. A few examples of human rights are those basic rights that ensure fairness, equality, freedom, and respect to all people. Ans 37	(I) a) According to Section 2(h) of the Indian Contract Act, 1872, an agreement that is enforceable by law is a contract. b) Types of Contract based on the validity and enforceability of contracts are: Valid Contract; Void Contract; Voidable Contract; Illegal Contract; and Unenforceable Contract (explain any four). Valid Contract- According to the Indian Contract Act, 1872, an agreement that is enforceable by law is a contract [Section 2(h)]. A valid contract is a legally binding agreement between two or more parties that is enforceable by law. This implies, all agreements per se are not contracts. Void Contract- A contract which ceases to be enforceable by law becomes void. Voidable Contract- It is a contract that may either be affirmed or rejected at the option of one of the parties to the contract on grounds of coercion, undue influence, fraud or misrepresentation. Illegal Contract According to section 10 ICA, a contract must be made for a lawful consideration and lawful object. If either the consideration or the object is an action or omission prohibited by law, it results in an illegal contract. Unenforceable Contract An unenforceable contract is a contract that may have the essential elements of a valid agreement, but cannot be enforced by one or more of the parties in a court of law. This can happen for several reasons, such as a) Lack of Capacity: due to age (minors), mental disability, or intoxication, the contract can be considered unenforceable. b) Lack of Consent: If the agreement was entered into under duress, fraud, undue influence, or misrepresentation, it might be deemed unenforceable because the consent was not freely given. Or (II) a) Intellectual property is an intangible property that comes into existence through human intellect. Automatic Protection Mandated that legal protection should not be subject to compliance with any formalities. iii. Independence of Protection decreed that legal protection should be independent of the existence of protection in the country of origin of the work. 3. The Universal Copyright Convention (UCC) i. National Treatment The UCC adheres to the principle of national treatment rather than automatic protection, which implies that contracting countries are not obligated to provide foreign works with automatic protection if the national requirements are not met. ii. The term of the Work Under the UCC, original literary, artistic, and scientific works are eligible for protection. To provide reasonable notice of the copyright claim, a copyright notice should accompany the work. The UCC stipulates that protection for a work lasts for the duration of the author’s lifetime and an additional 25 years following the author’s death. iii.
