(Case Based Questions)

11. Read the given text and answer the following questions :

The length of road per 100 sq. km of area is known as density of roads. Distribution of road is not uniform in the country. Density of all roads varies from only 12.14 km in Jammu and Kashmir to 517.77 km in Kerala (as on 31 March 2011) with the national average of 142.68 km (31 March 2011).

Road transportation in India faces a number of problems. Keeping in view the volume of traffic and passengers, the road network is inadequate. About half of the roads are unmetalled and this limits their usage during the rainy season.

The National Highways are inadequate too. Moreover, the roadways are highly congested in cities and most of the bridges and culverts are old and narrow. However, in recent years fast development of road network has taken place in different parts of the country.

11.1 What is road density?

11.2 Where do we find the highest and the lowest road density?

11.3 Write a note on the state of roads in India.

12. Read the given text and answer the following questions :

The failure of the Cripps Mission and the effects of World War II created widespread discontentment in India. This led Gandhiji to launch a movement calling for complete withdrawal of the British from India. The Congress Working Committee, in its meeting in Wardha on 14 July 1942, passed the historic ‘Quit India’ resolution demanding the immediate transfer of power to Indians and quit India. On 8 August 1942 in Bombay, the All India Congress Committee endorsed the resolution which called for a non-violent mass struggle on the widest possible scale throughout the country. It was on this occasion that Gandhiji delivered the famous ‘Do or Die’ speech. The call for ‘Quit India’ almost brought the state machinery to a standstill in large parts of the country as people voluntarily threw themselves into the thick of the movement. People observed hartals, and demonstrations and processions were accompanied by national songs and slogans. The movement was truly a mass movement which brought into its ambit thousands of ordinary people, namely students, workers and peasants. It also saw the active participation of leaders, namely, Jayprakash Narayan, Aruna Asaf Ali and Ram Manohar Lohia and many women such as Matangini Hazra in Bengal, Kanaklata Barua in Assam and Rama Devi in Odisha. The British responded with much force, yet it took more than a year to suppress the movement.

12.1 In which month of 1942 the Quit India movement was started?

12.2 Who gave the Slogan of ‘Do or Die’?

12.3 Where and when was the Quit India Resolution passed?

6. 'Industrialisation gave birth to Imperialism.
 - (i) Imperialism followed industrialisation.
 - (ii) Industrialisation chiefly needed the constant supply of raw-materials. The finished goods needed to be sold at the same speed.
 - (iii) The industrialised countries had introduced heavy import duties as protective tariffs to check the import from other countries.
 - (iv) Faced with the problem of finding new markets for their products, the producer nations chose such countries where industrialisation had not yet happened.
 - (v) Hence a race for bringing those areas under their effective occupation or effective influence started among the various industrialised nations.
 - (vi) As a consequence, Britain, France, Germany, Japan, etc., set up their colonies in Asia, Africa, South America, etc.
 - (vii) These colonies served two purposes of being the suppliers of cheap raw materials and an easy market for their finished goods.

OR

- (i) Before the age of machine industries, silk and cotton goods from India dominated the international market in textile. Coarser cotton was produced in many countries, but the finer varieties often came from India. Armenian and Persian merchants took the goods from Punjab to Afghanistan, Eastern Persia and Central Asia.
 - (ii) Bales of fine textiles were carried on camel back via the North West frontier, through mountain passes and across deserts.
 - (iii) A vibrant sea trade operated through the main precolonial ports. Surat on the Gujarat coast connected India to the Gulf and Red Sea Ports; Masulipatnam on the Coromandel Coast and Hooghly in Bengal had trade links with Southeast Asian ports.
7. A democratic government must safeguard the fundamental rights of every citizen. This is the basis of a harmonious social life. The values that must be followed are :
- (i) The rulers elected by the people must take all the major decisions and be responsible to them.
 - (ii) Elections must offer a choice and fair opportunity to the people to change the current government.
 - (iii) This choice and opportunity should be available to all the people equally.
 - (iv) The government must be limited by basic rules of the constitution and citizen's rights.
8. (i) While globalisation has benefited the well off consumers and also producers with skill, education and wealth, many small producers and workers have suffered as a result of the rising competition.

(ii) Removal of trade barriers and liberalisation of the government to facilitate globalisation have hit the local producers and manufacturers hard.

(iii) Globalisation and the pressure of competition have substantially changed the lives of workers. Faced with growing competition. Most employers these days prefer to employ workers flexibly. This means that workers jobs are no longer secure.

9. With globalisation many changes have occurred in the Indian markets. The various transformations in Indian market in recent years are :

(i) There is availability of wide range of choice of goods and services.

(ii) Products are of better quality and at competitive prices.
