8. Source : The Movement in the Towns [4]
- The movement started with middle-class participation in the cities. Thousands of students left government-controlled schools and colleges, headmasters and teachers resigned, and lawyers gave up their legal practices. The council elections were boycotted in most provinces except Madras, where the Justice Party, the party of the non-Brahmans, felt that entering the council was one way of gaining some power-something that usually only

Brahmans had access to.

The effects of non-cooperation on the economic front were more dramatic. Foreign goods were boycotted, liquor shops picketed, and foreign cloth burnt in huge bonfires. The import of foreign cloth halved between 1921 and 1922, its value dropping from Rs. 102 crore to Rs. 57 crore. In many places merchants and traders refused to trade in foreign goods or finance foreign trade. As the boycott movement spread, and people began discarding imported clothes and wearing only Indian ones, production of Indian textile mills and handlooms went up.

28. Read the following text carefully and answer the questions that follow: [4]

Language Diversity of India

How many languages do we have in India? The answer depends on how one counts it. The latest information that we have is from the Census of India held in 2011. This census recorded more than 1300 distinct languages which people mentioned as their mother tongues. These languages were grouped together under some major languages. For example languages like Bhojpuri, Magadhi, Bundelkhandi, Chhattisgarhi, Rajasthani and many others were grouped together under 'Hindi'. Even after this grouping, the Census found 121 major languages. Of these 22 languages are now included in the Eighth Schedule of the Indian Constitution and are therefore called 'Scheduled Languages'. Others are called 'Non-Scheduled Languages'. In terms of languages, India is perhaps the most diverse country in the world.

7. During the year following 1815 when the fear of repression drove many liberal-nationalists underground the following events happened:
- Secret societies sprang up in many European states to train revolutionaries and spread their ideas.
 - To be revolutionary at this time meant a commitment to oppose monarchical forms that had been established after the Vienna Congress, and to fight for liberty and freedom.
 - Most of these revolutionaries also saw the creation of nation-states as a necessary part of this struggle for freedom.
 - One such individual was the Italian revolutionary Giuseppe Mazzini. He was an Italian revolutionary founded two more underground societies, first, Young Italy in Marseilles, and then, Young Europe in Berne, whose members were like-minded young men from Poland, France, Italy, and the German states.
 - Giuseppe Mazzini believed that nations are natural units of mankind. In his view, the creation of nation-states is a necessary part of the struggle for freedom. So, Italy could not continue to be a patchwork of small states and kingdoms. It had to be forged into a single unified republic within a wider alliance of nations. This unification alone could be the basis of Italian liberty. Following his model, secret societies were set-up in Germany, France, Switzerland and Poland.
 - He was opposed to monarchy and believed in the vision of democratic republics. He did not believe in small states and kingdoms.
 - Giuseppe Mazzini's relentless opposition to monarchy and his vision of democratic republics frightened the conservatives, Metternich described him as 'the most dangerous enemy of our social order'.

OR

The Process of Unification of Germany is as follows:

- By 1848, the popular effort of political associations failed in installing a constitutional monarchy in Germany.
 - The Failure of the Frankfurt Parliament made it clear that German unification had to come through the combined effort of monarchy and army supported by large landowners.
 - From then on, Prussia took on the leadership in the unification of Germany. The architect of the process was the Chief Minister of Prussia, Otto von Bismarck. He took the help of bureaucracy and the military.

vi. Development and increase in the demand for electricity go hand in hand.

Any five points to be explained.

OR

Energy is a basic requirement for economic development. The strategy of economic development that India adopted since independence necessarily required an increasing amount of energy consumption. As a result, the consumption of energy in all forms has been rising.

To take care of this concern various measures that need to be adopted are as follows:

- We need to increase the use of renewable energy resources like solar, wind power, biogas, tidal energy, and geothermal energy. This will decrease the dependence on non-renewable sources.
 - The use of public transport systems instead of individual vehicles can help in minimising the usage of resources such as petroleum or diesel. Pooling is a very sustainable option in this regard as well.
 - Another measure that needs to be adopted is the promotion of energy conservation, e.g., switching off electrical devices when not in use.
18. i. Increased employment opportunities. Increased international competitiveness of industrial production. Reduced rates of interest and tariffs. Decreased the debt burden of the country.
ii. The Indian automobile industry contributes almost 6.4% of India's GDP and 35% of manufacturing GDP and is a leading employment provider.
iii. After the liberalisation, the coming in of new and contemporary models stimulated the demand for vehicles in the market, which led to the healthy growth of the industry including passenger cars, two and three wheelers.
19. i. Bokaro - Iron and Steel Plant

ii. Gandhinagar - Software Technology Park

Section C

20. (c) Statement i, ii and iii are right.
Explanation:
Since one or few leaders exercise paramount power in the party, those who disagree with the leadership find it difficult to continue in the party. More than loyalty to party principles and policies, personal loyalty to the leader becomes more important.
21. (b) Increased participation of women in Panchayats
Explanation:
In these newspaper clippings, the news is related to Panchayats. The clippings show a huge number of women elected to Panchayats i.e., increased participation of women in politics.
22. (a) Only statement iv is right.

23. (c) A is true but R is false.
Explanation:
A secular state allows its all individuals and communities the freedom to practice and propagate any religion or not follow any religion at all. The constitution of the state prohibits any discrimination on the basis of religion.
24. The steps taken by the Belgium government to accommodate regional differences are as follows:
- Equal number of minister in the central government: Constitution prescribes that the number of Dutch and French-speaking ministers shall be equal in the central government. Some special laws require the support of majority of members from each linguistic group. Thus, no single community can make decisions unilaterally.
 - Decentralisation of powers: Many powers of the central government have been given to state governments of the two regions of the country. The state governments are not subordinate to the Central Government.
 - Separate government in Capital: Brussels has a separate government with equal representation for both communities. This arrangement is possible because the Dutch-speaking community has accepted equal representation in the Central Government.
25. Democracies are based on political equality. All individuals have equal weight in electing representatives. It is the process of bringing individuals into the political arena on an equal footing, where every citizen has the right to vote and each vote has equal value.
26. Compared to a dictatorship regime democracy fails to achieve higher economic development. But there are some detrimental factors that must be analyzed before arriving at conclusions. Also, democracy has several positive outcomes that are missing in any of its alternatives.
- Economic development depends on several factors country's population size, global situation, cooperation from other countries, economic priorities adopted by the country, etc.

- The difference in the rates of economic development between less developed countries with dictatorships and democracies is negligible.
- Democracy is a guarantee of economic development. But we can expect democracy not to lag behind dictatorships in this respect.

27. Popular dissatisfaction and criticism: It has focused on four areas in the working of political parties, need to face and overcome these challenges in order to remain effective instruments of democracy:

- The first challenge is a lack of internal democracy within parties. All over the world, there is a tendency in political parties towards the concentration of power in one or a few leaders at the top. Parties do not keep membership registers, do not hold organisational meetings, and do not conduct internal elections regularly.
- The second challenge of dynastic succession is related to the first one. Since most political parties do not practice open and transparent procedures for their functioning, there are very few ways for an ordinary worker to rise to the top at a party.
- The third challenge is about the growing role of money and muscle power in parties, especially during elections. Since parties are focussed only on winning elections, they tend to use short-cuts to win elections.
- The fourth challenge is that very often parties do not seem to offer a meaningful choice to the voters. In order to offer meaningful choice, parties must be significantly different.

OR

1. Lack of Internal Democracy:

- Issue: Not all party members participate in decision-making processes.
- Example: Some top leaders make decisions without consulting ordinary members, leading to a lack of inclusivity.

2. Dynastic Succession:

- Issue: Some parties perpetuate power within specific families, hindering merit-based leadership.
- Example: In India, certain political families dominate party leadership across generations.

3. Financial Constraints:

- Issue: Parties require funds for campaigns, operations, and outreach.
- Example: Raising money ethically while avoiding undue influence from wealthy donors is a challenge.

4. Muscle Power and Violence:

- Issue: Some parties resort to muscle power, intimidation, or violence during elections.
- Example: Instances of booth capturing, clashes, and intimidation affect the democratic process.

5. Meaningful Voter Choice:

- Issue: Voters need genuine options to make informed choices.
- Example: When parties lack distinct ideologies or policies, voters face limited meaningful choices.

28. i. Language diversity is very important in India because it reflects the country's rich cultural and social heritage.
- Scheduled Languages are those 22 languages which are included in the Eight Schedule of the Indian Constitution.
 - Non-Scheduled Languages are those 99 languages which are not included in the Eight Schedule of the Indian Constitution.
- iii. It means that India's diverse languages and cultures have merged to form a shared sense of national identity. For example, the Indian Army developed the Camp language. Bollywood films are renowned for incorporating a variety of musical and linguistic styles.

Explanation: Under MGNREGA 2005, all those who are able to, and are in need of, work in rural areas are guaranteed 100 days of employment in a year by the government.

35. Barriers to foreign trade and investment were put by the Indian government to protect domestic producers from foreign competition, especially when industries had just begun to come up in the 1950s and 1960s. Post-independence India put barriers on its foreign trade as the imports had exceeded exports and the country was in huge debt. To reverse the debt and improve the country's financial condition the government decided to minimize its imports and foreign investment and maximize exports. Competition from imports (except essential goods) would have given a death blow to growing industries. This policy was changed in 1991 because of the following reasons:-

- i. The government felt that domestic producers were now ready to compete with foreign industries.
- ii. It was also felt that foreign competition would improve the quality of goods and services produced by Indian industries.

36. The deposits with the banks are beneficial to the depositors because of the following reason:

- i. Safety: People's money is safe with the banks.
- ii. Earn Interest: Banks accept the deposits and pay interest to the depositor.
- iii. Easy Withdrawal: People can withdraw the money as and when they require. They can make payment easily through cheques.

The deposits with the banks are beneficial to the nation because of the following reason:

- i. Availability of cheap loans (with more deposits) to a large number of people.
- ii. Boost the industry by providing cheap loans.
- iii. The interest rate provided on deposits adds to the income of the family, thus increasing the overall income of the nation.

From the above points, it can be concluded that deposits with the banks are beneficial to the depositors as well as to the nation

37. It is true that for development, people look at a mix of goals. Income is not only an important factor leading to the country's development. The other factors like freedom, respect, peace, harmony are as important as income. We can understand this with the following example.

- i. If women are engaged in paid work, their dignity in the household and society increases. So in this case other than the income from the job, dignity is an important goal.
- ii. However, it is also the case that if there is respect for women, there would be more sharing of housework and greater acceptance of women working outside.
- iii. A safe and secure environment may allow more women to take up a variety of jobs or run a business. These are goals other than income. Hence, the development goal is not only for better income but for other important things in life like an increase in human value.

38. The Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Act (MGNREGA), also known as Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Scheme (MNREGS) is Indian legislation enacted on August 25, 2005. The MGNREGA provides a legal guarantee for one hundred days of employment in every financial year to adult members of any rural household willing to do public work-related unskilled manual work at the statutory minimum wage. The Ministry of Rural Development (MRD), Govt of India is monitoring the entire implementation of this scheme in association with state governments

Following are the provisions of NREGA 2005:

- i. 100 days assured employment every year to each rural household.
- ii. One-third of the proposed jobs to be reserved for women.

- iii. Under the program, if an applicant is not provided employment within 15 days, he/she will be entitled to a daily unemployment allowance.
- iv. The governments have to establish Central Employment Guarantee Funds and State Employment Guarantee Funds for the implementation of the scheme.
- v. The scheme is to be extended to 600 districts. The schemes provided employment to 220 crore person-days of employment to 4.78 crore households.
