 (B) While the Commission treats all parties equally.
 (C) It offers some special facilities to large and established parties.
 (D) These parties are given an ordinary symbol—only the official candidates of that party can use that election symbol.

Ans. Option (D) is correct.

Explanation: The parties that get these privileges of using unique-symbols and some other special facilities are recognised by the Election Commission of India for this purpose. And only the official Candidates of that Party can use that Election Symbol.

16. Find the incorrect options:

- (A) In a democracy, a large number of similar opinions have to be grouped to provide a direction in which policies can be formulated by the governments.
- (B) That is what the parties do.
- (C) A party reduces a vast multitude of opinions into a few basic positions which it supports.
- (D) A government is expected to base its policies on the line taken by the opposition party.

Ans. Option (D) is correct.

Explanation: Each political party fights the election to achieve its objectives incorporated in their political manifesto. Soon after the election the majority party forming the government seeks to formulate its policies of administration based on promises made in the election manifesto. These policies are made keeping in mind the interest of the general public by the Ruling Party.

Assertion and Reason Based MCQs
(1 Mark Each)

Directions : In the following questions, A statement of Assertion (A) is followed by a statement of Reason (R). Mark the correct choice as:

- (A) Both A and R are true and R is the correct explanation of A.
- (B) Both A and R are true but R is NOT the correct explanation of A.
- (C) A is true but R is false.
- (D) A is false and R is true.

1. Assertion (A): Parties play a decisive role in making laws for a country.

Reason (R): Opposition parties also mobilize opposition to the government.

Ans. Option (B) is correct.

Explanation: Parties play a decisive role in making laws for a country. Formally, laws are debated in the form of first, second and third readings and then by popular voting, the bill is passed.

2. Assertion (A): India has multi party system.

Reason (R): The multi party system often appears very messy and leads to political instability.

Ans. Option (B) is correct.

Explanation: The multi-party system often appears very messy and leads to political instability. All the parties present different objectives and so create confusion among the people. The government formed is through coalition, which in itself is unstable and may be the cause of the breaking up of the government formed.

3. Assertion (A): Political parties are easily one of the most visible institutions in a democracy.

Reason (R): For most ordinary citizens, democracy is equal to political parties.

Ans. Option (A) is correct.

4. Assertion (A): Most people tend to be very critical of political parties.

Reason (R): They tend to blame parties for all that is wrong without democracy and our political life.

Ans. Option (A) is correct.

5. Assertion (A): Parties put forward different policies and programmes and the voters choose from them.

Reason (R): Each of us has similar opinions and views on what policies are suitable for society.

Ans. Option (C) is correct.

Explanation: Each of us may have different opinions and views on what policies are suitable for society. But no government can handle such a large variety of views.

6. Assertion (A): Council Members form and run governments.

Reason (R): Parties recruit leaders, train them and then make them ministers to run the government in the way they want.

Ans. Option (D) is correct.

Explanation: Political parties elect their leaders. The political party winning majority of the seats in the elections are invited to form the government.

7. Assertion (A): The rise of political parties is directly linked to the emergence of representative democracies.

Reason (R): As societies became large and organised, they do not need any agency to gather different views on various issues and to present these to the government.

Ans. Option (C) is correct.

Explanation: The rise of parties is directly linked with a representative form of democracy because based on large territory and large population it is not possible for people to assemble together and make policies for themselves, therefore representatives from parties are to be chosen. When these parties are put in place, they therefore act as the voices of the masses.

Case-based MCQs (1 Mark Each)

I. Read the given extract and answer the questions that follow:

Democracies that follow a federal system all over the world tend to have two kinds of political parties: parties that are present in only one of the federal units and parties that are present in several or all units of the federation. This is the case in India as well. There are some countrywide parties, which are called National parties. These parties have their units in various states. But by and large, all these units follow the same policies, programmes and strategy that is decided at the National level. Every party in the country has to register with the Election Commission. While the Commission treats all parties equally, it offers some special facilities to large and established parties. These parties are given a unique symbol – only the official candidates of that party can use that election symbol. Parties that get this privilege and some other special facilities are ‘recognised’ by the Election Commission for this purpose. That is why these parties are called, ‘Recognised Political Parties’. The Election Commission has laid down detailed criteria of the proportion of votes and seats that a party must get in order to be a recognised party. A party that secures at least six per cent of the total votes in an election to the Legislative Assembly of a State and wins at least two seats is recognised as a State party. A party that secures at least six per cent of the total votes in Lok Sabha elections or Assembly elections in four States and wins at least four seats in the Lok Sabha is recognised as a National Party.

Answer the following MCQs by choosing the most appropriate options:

1. What does the Election Commission of India allot to all Parties so that they are called 'Recognised Political Parties'?

(A) Emblem (B) Motif
(C) Symbol (D) Flag

Ans. Option (C) is correct.

Explanation: The Election Commission provides symbols to provide for specification, reservation, choice and allotment of symbols at elections for the recognition of political parties in relation thereto and for matters connected therewith.

2. A party is called 'National Party' only when it polls _____ of total valid votes in at least _____ states and in addition it wins _____ Lok Sabha Seats.

(A) 2%, Four, 4 (B) 6%, Four, 4
(C) 4%, Four, 4 (D) 2%, Four, 3

Ans. Option (B) is correct.

Explanation: The Election Commission has laid down detailed criteria of the proportion of votes and seats that a party must get in order to be a recognized Party.

3. Every party in the country has to register with:

(A) Prime Minister (B) President
(C) Election Commission (D) All of these

Ans. Option (C) is correct.

4. Two regional parties of West Bengal are:

(A) Forward Bloc and Trinamool Congress
(B) All India Trinamool Congress and Forward Bloc
(C) National Congress Party and Forward Bloc
(D) Indian National Congress and Forward Bloc

Ans. Option (A) is correct.

- II. Read the given extract and answer the questions that follow:

Let us look at some of the recent efforts and suggestions in our country to reform political parties and their leaders:

- The Constitution was amended to prevent elected MLAs and MPs from changing parties. This was done because many elected representatives were indulging in DEFECTION in order to become ministers or for cash rewards. Now the law says that if any MLA or MP changes parties, he or she will lose the seat in the legislature. This new law has helped bring defection down. At the same time this has made any dissent even more difficult. MPs and MLAs have to accept whatever the party leaders decide.
- The Supreme Court passed an order to reduce the influence of money and criminals. Now, it is mandatory for every candidate who contests elections to file an AFFIDAVIT giving details of his property and criminal cases pending against him. The new system has made a lot of information available to the public. But there is no system of checking whether the information given by the candidates is true. As yet, we do not know if it has led to decline in the influence of the rich and the criminals.

The Election Commission passed an order making it necessary for political parties to hold their organisational elections and file their income tax returns. The parties have started doing so but sometimes it is mere formality. It is not clear if this step has led to greater internal democracy in political parties.

Besides these, many suggestions are often made to reform political parties:

- A law should be made to regulate the internal affairs of political parties. It should be made compulsory for political parties to maintain a register of its members, to follow its own constitution, to have an independent authority, to act as a judge in case of party disputes, to hold open elections to the highest posts.
- It should be made mandatory for political parties to give a minimum number of tickets, about one-third, to women candidates. Similarly, there should be a quota for women in the decision-making bodies of the party.
- There should be state funding of elections. The government should give parties money to support their election expenses. This support could be given in kind: petrol, paper, telephone, etc. Or it could be given in cash on the basis of the votes secured by the party in the last election.

Answer the following MCQs by choosing the most appropriate options:

1. Changing Party allegiance from the Party on which a person got elected (to a legislative body) to a different Party was done normally by:

(A) Only MPs
(B) By both MPs and MLAs
(C) Only MLAs
(D) By none of them

Ans. Option (B) is correct.

2. The Supreme Court has passed an order to file _____ giving details of the property and criminal cases pending against every candidate who contests elections.

(A) writ (B) case
(C) an affidavit (D) charge

Ans. Option (C) is correct.

Explanation: An affidavit is a declaration of facts made in writing and sworn before a person having the authority to administer the oath. All affidavits need to be drawn up in the first person and should contain facts and not inferences by every candidate who contests election.

3. It should be made mandatory for Political Parties to give a minimum of about one-third of tickets to:

(A) Women (B) SCs
(C) STs (D) All of them

Ans. Option (A) is correct.

4. The Government should give parties state funding of elections as:

(A) Diesel, Petrol, Kerosene oil, etc.
(B) Paper, Stationery, Printed forms, etc.
(C) Mobile Phones, Telephones, Computer, etc.
(D) Petrol, Paper, Telephone, etc.

Ans. Option (D) is correct.

Explanation: This should be done to stop the misappropriate use of money given to the parties.

III. Read the given extract and answer the questions that follow:

In some countries, power usually changes between two main parties. Several other parties may exist, contest elections and win a few seats in the National legislatures. But only the two main parties have a serious chance of winning majority of seats to form government. Such a party system is called two-party system. The United States of America and the United Kingdom are examples of two-party system. If several parties compete for power and more than two parties have a reasonable chance of coming to power either on their own strength or in alliance with others, we call it a multi party system. Thus, in India, we have a multi party system. In this system, the government is formed by various parties coming together in a coalition. When several parties in a multi-party system join hands for the purpose of contesting elections and winning power, it is called an alliance or a front. For example, in India there were three such major alliances in 2004 parliamentary elections—the National Democratic Alliance, the United Progressive Alliance and the Left Front. The multi-party system often appears very messy and leads to political instability. At the same time, this system allows a variety of interests and opinions to enjoy political representation.

Answer the following MCQs by choosing the most appropriate options:

1. Countries having Bi- party system:

(A) USA (B) India
(C) China (D) All of these

Ans. Option (A) is correct.

Explanation: The Bi-party system encourages the existence of two major parties, as smaller parties face great difficulty in winning elective office.

2. The multi-party system:

(A) appears very messy.
(B) leads to political instability.
(C) not free to form a political party.
(D) Both (A) and (B)

Ans. Option (D) is correct.

3. The Government is formed by various parties coming together in a/an _____.

(A) alliance (B) front
(C) coalition (D) opposition

Ans. Option (C) is correct.

Explanation: The usual reason for an arrangement of the coalition is that no single party has achieved an absolute majority after an election.

4. Which party leads the ruling NDA government at the Centre?

(A) Indian National Congress
(B) Bharatiya Janata Party
(C) Bahujan Samaj Party
(D) Communist Party of India

Ans. Option (B) is correct.

(ii) National Party:

(a) A party that secures at least six per cent of the total votes in Lok Sabha election or Assembly in four states and wins at least four seats in the Lok Sabha.

(b) For example: BJP, Indian National Congress, etc.  $1\frac{1}{2} + 1\frac{1}{2} = 3$

[CBSE Marking Scheme, 2019]

Detailed Answer:

In India, Political Parties are recognized as Regional and National parties in the following ways:

- (i) A Regional Party refers to the party that obtains a minimum of 6% of the total votes in State Assembly elections and acquires a minimum of two seats. On the contrary, if a party occupies 6% of the total votes polled in the elections of the lower house of Parliament or Legislative Assembly elections in four states and gains four seats in the lower house then that party is granted the status of the National Party.
  - (ii) A Regional Party's symbol can be changed and repeated in another state. Conversely, the symbol of a National Party is permanent which cannot be repeated.
  - (iii) A Regional Party influences a particular region or state. In contrast, a National Party influences over the entire country.
  - (iv) A Regional Party must win seats of at least two states. While, a national party must win seats in at least four States.
  - (v) A Regional Party aims at promoting regional interest. On the other end, a national Party aims at resolving National and International Issues.
- Examples of national parties: BJP, CPI (M), INC, BSP, etc.
Examples of regional parties: AAP, Shiv Sena, All India Forward Bloc, etc.

(Any three points along with examples)

9. "Nearly every one of the State Parties wants to get an opportunity to be a part of one or the other national level coalition." Support the statement with arguments.

[A] [Board Term-II, Delhi Set-III, 2016]

Ans. State Parties seeking National Level Coalition:

Before the general elections of 2014, in three General Elections, no one National Party was able to secure on its own a majority in Lok Sabha. As a result, the national parties were compelled to form alliances with state or regional parties. Since 1996, nearly every one of the state parties has got an opportunity to be a part of one or the other National Level Coalition Government.

This has contributed to the strengthening of Federalism and Democracy.

AI 7. What is a Multi-Party system? Explain Merits and Demerits of multi-party system.

U [O.E.B.]

Ans. In the Multi-party system, three or more parties compete to gain control of the government separately or in the coalition. When no single party gain majority votes then several parties join and form a coalition government. For example-India.

Supporters of this system point out that it allows more points of view to be presented in the government.

Merits:

- (i) This system allows a variety of interests and opinions to enjoy political representation.
- (ii) People can choose between several candidates.

Demerits:

- (i) No one party is likely to gain power alone. Therefore, it leads to difficulty in formation of the government.
- (ii) Leads to political instability and often appears to be very messy.  $1 + 2 + 2 = 5$

8. Describe the importance of Regional Political parties in strengthening democracy.

U [CBSE Compartment, 2018]

Ans. Importance of Regional Political Parties:-

Over the last three decades, the number and strength of regional parties have expanded. This made the Parliament of India politically more and more diverse. No one national party can secure on its own a majority in Lok Sabha. As a result, the National Parties are compelled to form alliances with state parties since 1996. Nearly everyone of the state parties has got an opportunity to be a part of one or the other National level coalition government. This has contributed to the strengthening of federalism and democracy in our country.

OR

Elucidate some of the recent efforts taken in our country to reform Political Parties and its Leaders.

A [Board Term II, CBSE SQP, 2016]

Ans. (i) The Constitution was amended to prevent elected MLA's and MP's from changing parties. This was done because many elected representatives were indulging in defection to become ministers or for cash rewards. Now, if any MLA or MP changes parties, he or she will lose the seat in the Legislature.

(ii) The Supreme Court passed an order to reduce the influence of money and criminals. Now, it is mandatory for every candidate who contests Elections to file an affidavit giving details of his property and criminal cases pending against him. The new system has made a lot of information available to the public. But there is no system of check if the information given by the candidates is true.

(iii) The Election Commission passed an order making it necessary for political parties to hold their Organisational elections and file their Income tax returns.

(iv) The Parties have started doing so but sometimes it is a mere formality. It is not clear if this step has led to greater internal democracy in Political Parties.
